Local Fire Department Saw More Activity in '17

by Jeff Eakins
for The Banner

The Knightstown-Wayne Township Fire Department logged 378 runs in 2017, an increase of more than 55 percent over 2016's total.

Fire Chief Eric McDaniel presented figures from the department's year-end report at the Jan. 24 monthly meeting of the Knightstown-Wayne Township Fire Board. According to the report, 38 of the runs were for fires, 233 were for medical calls and 107 were classified as miscellaneous.

The number of medical runs made last year was an increase of nearly 153.3 percent over the 92 made in 2016. By contrast, the number of fire runs in 2017 decreased 28.3 percent from the 53 the department had the previous year, while the miscellaneous runs increased nearly 9.2 percent from 2016's total of 98.

Speaking to The Banner Monday morning, McDaniel said the increase in medical runs is due to a change in policy last year that now has the fire department responding to all calls where advanced life support services (ALS) may be needed.

"If the call has need for that, you need more people," McDaniel said. "So we now go automatically when there's shortness of breath, chest pain or (someone is) unresponsive."

Nationally, McDaniel said 78 to 82 percent of fire department runs are for medical calls. In 2017, the 233 medical runs made by the Knightstown-Wayne Township department accounted for just under 62 percent of the year's 378 total runs.

Smiling Soles

A few years ago, the Henry County Kiwanis Club laced up a deal with New Castle shoe retailer Shoe Sensation to offer free shoes to county school children. Like last year, Kiwanians and Shoe Sensation representatives again treaded through Knightstown intermediate and elementary schools last week, giving out about 100 pairs of colorful sneakers. Kids also got a brand new pair of socks. Preschooler Jacob Boles (above) smiles as Shoe Sensation Assistant Manager Robyn Brenneman slides his foot into a bright Fila tennis shoe Friday morning at Knightstown Elementary School. She was born Feb. 16, 1930, south of Arlington. She was the first of 6 children born to Ralph Wendell and Mary Luella Sharpe Hill. As a child she lived for some time with her grandparents, Blount and Essie (McDaniel) Sharpe, of Arlington and was close with them and their daughter, Dorothy Sharpe Norris. Paternal grandparents were Peter and Josephine Conley Hill, who lived on a farm west of Arlington. Evelyn attended school at Arlington Elementary, Greensburg schools, Rushville Junior High School and Arlington High School, graduating with the class of 1947. Close friends Franklin Gordon and Rosemarie Orme introduced her to a young man from Raleigh, Richard Charles Cole, and they were married June 15, 1947, at Arlington Christian Church. Richard was a farmer in northern Rush County.

Evelyn sold Avon for many years and worked at the Rushville Wal-Mart from when it was first opened until when she retired in 2005 due to health concerns. As a youth, Evelyn was a member of Arlington Christian Church and later moved her membership to Center Christian Church where she was active in the Loyal Workers. Friends are welcome to visit from 4-8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 8, at the mortuary. Burial will be in Arlington East Hill Cemetery where she spent many hours with her grandfather, Blount Sharpe, who was caretaker of the cemetery for many years. In lieu of flowers, memorial gifts can be given to Center Christian Church or the Rush County 4-H Council to benefit 4-H programs.

Knightstown Group May Seek More Planning Money

by Jeff Eakins
for The Banner

As the town of Knightstown continues with efforts to secure a sizable grant to help fund needed improvements at the Hoosier Gym, another local group may soon be applying for a grant that would pay for plans for downtown improvements.

Dave Kieser, owner of Kieser Consulting Group LLC, Lawrence, provided preliminary information about the planning grant offered by the state's Office of Community and Rural Affairs at the Jan. 17 meeting of the Knightstown Forward Committee. KFC is an ad hoc group consisting of representatives from several different local groups and government agencies.

Kieser, whose firm has been working with the town of Knightstown on several planning and development issues the past couple of years, told the group he thought OCRA awards planning grants worth $40,000 or $50,000. He said the program requires a 10-percent local match.

While the town is currently seeking a $500,000 grant through OCRA's Public Facilities Program for the Hoosier Gym improvements, Kieser said Knightstown's local Main Street Organization could apply for the planning grant. That, he explained, would allow the town to avoid an OCRA restriction that would keep the town from applying for a second grant through OCRA until such time that work on the gym improvements has started, should the town receive the Public Facilities Program grant.

If the Main Street organization is the grant applicant instead of the town, Kieser said the OCRA planning grant could be sought at anytime. Local businessman Bill Gorman, a member of the local Main Street group's board of directors, told Kieser the group does not have enough funds to supply a 10-percent local match for a planning grant.

Kieser said the matching funds would not necessarily need to be supplied by the Main Street group. Instead, he said this money could be raised from a variety of sources.

Kevin Knott, the vice president of the Knightstown Town Council, told Kieser and other meeting attendees that he and fellow council member Roger Hammer would do their part to secure the town council's support for a planning grant. Hammer added that he thought the town might be able to provide the matching funds if Main Street seeks a planning grant.

Kieser said his firm had helped the town of Carthage obtain an OCRA planning grant, which paid for his firm to develop an improvement plan for Carthage's downtown area. Then, subsequent grants from other sources were obtained and will help pay for several improvements scheduled to be made this spring and summer.

With respect to the grant being sought for the Hoosier Gym, Kieser told the KFC group that the process is moving along smoothly and things are "right on target" to meet a July 20 grant application deadline. As he has done at prior meetings, he again stressed the importance of collecting letters of support for the project that can be submitted to OCRA with the grant application.

Besides OCRA, Kieser said he thought other grant sources should also be considered for the Hoosier Gym.

"We want to try to get as much grant funding as we can for this project," Kieser said.

As previously reported in The Banner, the OCRA grant, if awarded, will help pay for replacement of the roof, guttering and some windows, along with tuck-pointing work on the brick exterior. There is also work needed on the gym's front door and improvements could be made to public restrooms to make them compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Should the town receive the OCRA grant, Kieser said it will be important "to make sure we get the best roofing system we can for our buck" and to make sure that any new windows and the tuck-pointing match the building's historic character. He said the goal of his firm on this project would be "to marry energy efficiency with historic preservation."

Linda Lashbrook, a member of Beautify Knightstown Inc., told the KFC meeting attendees that BKI had received a $2,000 grant from the Henry County Community Foundation. She said those funds will be combined with a $2,000 local match from BKI to pay for creation of a bike/pedestrian map for the area and some wayfinding signage.

Kieser said that his firm could assist with creation of the map, and he cautioned that there may be town and the state restrictions on the types of signs that can be installed, their size and where they can be located. Lashbrook and two other KFC members will work together on the signage issue, reporting back at the next KFC meeting, which is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 22.

The Banner Issues Correction

A story in last week issue of The Banner incorrectly identified one of two Knightstown Town Council members who serve on the council's two-person police committee. Council Vice President Kevin Knott, who had served on the committee the two previous years, has been replaced by council member Roger Hammer on this committee for 2018. The Banner regrets its error and apologizes for confusion or inconvenience it may have caused.

When In Doubt, Dish Out Hate

That was one of the best Super Bowls I can remember. It was a close game that featured some creative plays that more than made up for the lame commercials that normally entertain.

The only commercial that was laugh-out-loud funny was one created by the NFL itself. It featured a variety of well-known players in a hilarious reincarnation of a dance routine from the popular '80s movie Dirty Dancing.

Other than that, I thought the other commercials were mediocre.

The same goes for Justin Timberlake's halftime show. The sound wasn't very good and the whole thing seemed like another commercial. I normally like Timberlake, but his show lacked creativity.

I fully expected Tom Brady and the Patriots to pull off another comeback victory, but it wasn't in the cards this time. That elated his many haters out there - and there are many.

Why is that? Why do people have to hate on the greats? Brady is fantastically talented and he works hard to keep his skills sharp.

This points up another weird American trait: dishing out hate on those who exemplify winning traits like hard work, perserverance and talent. Apparently, Americans don't really embrace these traits, and it makes no sense.

It's just like those who deride educated people, while simultaneously encouraging their own children to seek college educations. What? That's the most idiotic thing I've ever heard! You encourage your kids to get a university education then mock and denigrate them after they've earned college degrees? That's stupid.

No wonder millennials and other youngsters don't put much stock in what baby boomers say. According to the older generation, you're damned if you do and damned if you don't. Get a college education and suffer the wrath of anti-intellectualism. Don't get a college degree and they'll say you don't stand a chance in today's job market.

What? That makes no sense.

Look at Tom Brady's example. He's one of the winningest athletes in American sports history. What's his reward? His reward is eternal hatred from those who claim to love winners and winning.

Since when did Americans start to embrace hate so much? They love to hate! They're seething with anger. It boils over and out of their mouths at almost every opportunity.

Wanna help the poor? Well, hate them. That helps.

Down on your luck through no fault of your own? To them, hate is a great way to assist you.

Physically or mentally handicapped? They'll mock, ridicule and bully you.

The New England Patriots are on the other end of the spectrum. They're talented. They have no handicaps. They work hard and practice. What does that earn them? Well, hate of course!

Hate ... it's what's for dinner!

The Wit and Wisdom of Presidents

(Originally published on Feb. 13, 2008)

Isn't the interest in this election wonderful? I consider the right to vote my most precious one from which all others devolve. It gives the people at least some control over the government. As I was reading the U.S. News and World Report booklet, I was struck by the wit and intellect of the presidents. Also, regardless of our "progress", we continue to have the same basic problems and divisions as they confronted.

Harry Truman was so witty: "If you can't convince them, confuse them." "A politician is a man who understands government, and it takes a politician to run a government. A statesman is a politician who's been dead for 15 years." "Being a president is like riding a tiger. A man has to keep on riding or be swallowed." "If you don't have a sense of humor, you're in a hell of a fix when you are president."

Abraham Lincoln said, "I claim freely not to have controlled events, but confess freely that events have controlled me." Who said--? #1 "History isn't short term, it's long term. I don't give a damn about polls." #2 "Never underestimate a man who overestimates himself."

Vicki reminded me that Bill's sister, Joyce, ran in the primary for the legislature. She was a passionate Republican, and her husband, who tried to get the nomination for Sheriff in Plymouth, was a fervent Democrat. Many were the nights at Clarke parties when Bill's family - even those of the same party! - vehemently debated about politics. One night Bill stood on a chair, shouting, "I have the floor!" The non-participants would roll their eyes and say disgustedly, "They're at it again."

#3 "If an individual wants to be a leader and isn't controversial, that means he never stood for anything." My father's opinions were buttressed by Time magazine - a conservative publication in those days - and the radio commentator, H. V. Kaltenborn. He was enraged when Truman fired General Macarthur. "They should impeach Truman!" he thundered after hearing Macarthur's "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away." speech on the radio. However, Daddy also said, "Never argue about politics."

Regarding foreign affairs: #4 "Speak softly, but carry a big stick." #5 "It is far better to have a strong national defense than a balanced budget." #6 "We Americans have no commission from God to police the world." #7 "We did not choose to be the guardians of the gate, but there is no one else."

Many presidents have had pungent comments about Congress: # 8 "That 150 lawyers should do business together is not to be expected." #9 "A bronco is something that kicks and bucks, twists and turns and very seldom goes in one direction. We have one of those things in Washington - It's called the Congress." #10 "The business of Congress is tedious beyond expression. Every man in it is a great man, an orator, a statesman; and therefore every man upon every question must show his oratory and his political abilities. " (Amen!) #11 "If you tell Congress everything about the world situation, they get hysterical. If you tell them nothing, they go fishing." Here's my favorite: "Thank God she doesn't have to be confirmed by the Senate!" spoken by Herbert Hoover on the birth of his granddaughter.

About campaigning and image: This one surprised me. #12 "The need for collecting large campaign funds would vanish if Congress provided an appropriation for the proper and legitimate expense of the great national parties." #13 "I don't know much about Americanism, but it's a damn good

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The 2018 sign-up deadline for the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP) is quickly approaching.

The nation's largest working lands conservation program, CSP rewards farmers for their conservation efforts, and helps them implement additional conservation measures on their land. With contract payments starting at $1,500, CSP has helped thousands of farmers across the U.S. plant cover crops, implement buffer strips, develop wildlife habitat, and more.

Interested farmers and ranchers must submit their applications by March 2, 2018, to be considered for this year's sign-up. To apply, producers should stop by their local NRCS office and submit the initial application materials.

Last year, we interviewed farmers who have used the program. We heard CSP is a great way to try conservation methods.

One farmer said, "CSP enhancement activities contribute toward the goals of resource conservation." He said it reduced nutrient loss and improved water quality.

Another uses CSP to maximize conservation practices. He said CSP is most beneficial "for accomplishing overall maintenance and improvements of our land."

Dear Editor,

Educated residents are the foundation of a strong state, and ensuring students receive a well-rounded education is always a top priority of mine.

This session, I authored Senate Bill 8, which would require each school corporation, charter school and accredited nonpublic elementary school to include cursive writing in its curriculum.

Students need this basic skill to be able to sign their name on a contract, driver's license or other legal documents. This is the seventh year I have authored a cursive writing bill, but the bill was killed by the House Education Committee chairman after passing the Senate each year. As long as society requires the use of this skill, I will fight for it to be taught in our schools.

In the 2017 legislative session, I co-authored Senate Bill 29, which required the Indiana Department of Education to conduct a survey asking Indiana elementary and secondary school teachers, principals, superintendents and members of governing bodies whether they support mandating cursive writing in schools. The study found 70 percent supported a cursive writing requirement, but only 20 percent of schools teach it in our state today.

Right now, 23 states mandate cursive writing and 14 more are working to require it in schools.

While some people believe there is no benefit to learning cursive writing, it has been proven to be more efficient than writing in print, and it also increased academic success by cognitive brain development.

Dr. Karin Harman James of the Indiana University Department of Psychology and Brain Sciences found that handwriting prepares students' brains for reading and enhances their writing fluency and composition.

Students' motor skills and hand-eye coordination are also bettered by cursive writing, and creating cursive curls and swirls with a writing utensil stimulates areas of the brain, increasing language fluency.

College Board, which is responsible for the Scholastic Assessment Test or SAT, also supports cursive writing. They found that students who wrote

Greenfield Native and KHS Football Coach Kevin Miller Enjoyed 'USA Football' Orlando Conference

by Logan Cox
for The Banner

"The USA Football mentality is to change the way people view football," said Kevin Miller, head coach of Knightstown High School's varsity football team. "Our main focus is to draw light to the fears of contact sports, but not scare away potential athletes or parents."

The weekend before last, Miller and KHS Athletic Director Matt Martin were in attendance of the USA Football 2018 National Conference. This event offers the chance to network with more than 1,000 coaches and administrators in the football community, as well as improve upon professional development.

"It was very insightful and a great learning environment," said Martin. "I got a lot out of the two and a half days I was down there."

Martin explained, "USA Football was generous enough to invite Coach Miller and I to the USA National Football Conference in Orlando as part of the Pro Bowl Weekend since we were a 'Power Of Football' school. While mostly centered around football and improving the game for the youth and student-athletes, I was able to take in some great speakers."

Miller made note of the variety of ideas and techniques that were taught during the conference.

"The job of being a football coach, or any coach, is to better prepare the student-athletes for their future," said Miller. "Wins and losses don't always prepare students, but caring about them and going that extra mile to help them will always mean much more!"

Miller and Martin also heard several speakers while there, a few of whom offered strong and lasting insights.

"The first speaker that stood out to me was Rocky Seto, who was a former University of Southern California and Seattle Seahawks coach," said Martin. "He discussed the coaches working a life-home balance, and how to deal with the stress and day-to-day activities of a coach while keeping your home life the most important aspect of your life."

The speaker they took the most away from was Mike Kirschner, former Ben Davis head coach and current Mt. Vernon head coach.

"Coach Kirschner discussed establishing a leadership system," Martin said. "While this was the topic, he mainly focused on dealing with today's student-athletes and caring for them as more than just a player on your team. You need to show them you care and build a relationship while doing so."

Among the topics Kirschner discussed were the eight characteristics of a strong leader, and what each of those characteristics consists of.

"It was very interesting to see what made him successful, so we can hopefully continue to bring those traits to Knightstown," said Martin.

Miller added to Martin's thoughts regarding the speech delivered by Kirschner.

"Mike Kirschner was amazing in his presentation," he said. "Mr. Martin and I were talking about him the whole weekend. His message was about strong leadership and taking care of the kids and

Jan. 18 meeting to serve as members or liaisons to the following town boards and community groups: Glen Cove Cemetery Board (Ward); Knightstown Parks and Recreation Board (Knott); Knightstown Plan Commission (Knott, Hammer); Southwest Ambulance (Roland); Knightstown Chamber of Commerce (Hammer); New Castle-Henry County Economic Development Corp. (Dean); Hoosier Gym Community Center of Knightstown (Roland); Knightstown Main Street (Hammer); Knightstown Area Crime Watch (Dean); and Beautify Knightstown Inc. (Knott).

Last year, Knott also served as the council's representative to the East Central Indiana Regional Planning and Development Board. The appointments approved at the Jan. 18 meeting, however, did not include a council representative to this board for 2018.

More information about the Jan. 18 meeting of the Knightstown Town Council can be found in the Jan. 24 and 31 issues of The Banner, and in the town's memoranda and minutes of that proceeding. The last two items are public records that should be available for inspection and copying at Knightstown Town Hall, 26 S. Washington St., during normal business hours.

Geographically, 179 of the department's runs in 2017 were within Knightstown's town limits, up a little over 61 percent from 2016. Meanwhile, runs made to areas of Wayne Township outside the town's boundaries increased nearly 92.6 percent from the previous year, from 81 to 156.

Another 35 runs the fire department made last year were responding to incidents on Interstate 70, just one less than the number of runs made there in 2016. Also, seven of 2017's runs were to provide mutual aid outside the normal service district to other area fire departments, a decrease of just over 56 percent from the 16 mutual aid runs the previous year.

As has traditionally been the case, most of the department's runs in 2017 - 203 - occurred between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. One hundred thirteen of the runs were made between 5 p.m. and midnight, and the remaining 62 were between midnight and 8 a.m.

Compared to totals from prior years, the 378 runs made last year were the most the department has made over the past nine years. The totals for the 2009-2016, according to year-end reports previously provided to the fire board, were, respectively, 209, 190, 177, 201, 199, 202, 239 and 243.

In other business at the Jan. 24 meeting, fire board members Sarah Ward, David Millhoan, Mitch Roland and Jeff Van Hoy voted to keep Wayne Township Trustee Randy Overman, the fire board's fifth member, as president. McDaniel told The Banner that Overman abstained from the vote, and clarified, as he has in past years, that he does not intend to vote on any matters brought before the fire board unless his vote is necessary to break a tie.

The fire board is also supposed to select one of its members to serve as secretary for the year, keeping minutes of board meetings and performing other duties that are generally associated with being a board secretary. McDaniel told The Banner on Monday that the board did not select one of its members to serve as secretary at the Jan. 24 meeting, something the board has also failed to in past years.

In other business at the Jan. 24 meeting, the Knightstown-Wayne Township Fire Board:

*approved its meeting calendar for 2018, with most meetings being at 7 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of the month;

*received monthly invoices from McDaniel and approved their payment;

*was advised by McDaniel that he recently had to purchase a new laptop computer due to the old computer having problems connecting to the Internet and lacking up-to-date software that allows the department to utilize the state's online reporting software;

*heard an update from McDaniel about the department's efforts to register with Knox Box, a company that works with businesses and government agencies to make sure that local emergency responders have secured access to a master key that will allow easy entry to their premises;

*learned the department has reapplied for an Assistance to Firefighters Grant, offered by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, in an effort to raise funds for purchase of a new truck, and that the county is working on an AFG request that would pay for new 800-megahertz radios for county fire, police and emergency medical services agencies, as well as the county highway department; and *received an update from McDaniel on staffing concerns affecting fire departments across the country - he said 70 to 75 percent of all firefighters are volunteers, with their average age being over 40 - and how this has impacted and changed the services these departments offer.

More information about the Jan. 24 meeting of the Knightstown-Wayne Township Fire Department can be found in the memoranda and minutes of that proceeding. Those public records should be available for inspection and copying at the fire department, 30 S. Washington St., Knightstown, during normal business hours.

County Officials Attend Conference in Indy

Debbie Walker, Henry County clerk, and Nate LaMar, president of Henry County Council, were among about 300 county officials from around the state who attended the Association of Indiana Counties (AIC) 2018 County Legislative Conference.

County officials met with their legislators to express their concerns about local government issues at this two-day event sponsored by the AIC. The event was held at the Hyatt Regency in downtown Indianapolis from January 30-31. The AIC staff briefed county officials about legislation being discussed in the Indiana General Assembly that would have an impact on counties.

Attendees were also briefed by Indiana Supreme Court Justice Steven David on several court-related initiatives that will affect counties: Evidence-Based Decision Making; Criminal Court Rule 26 regarding bail; and various other commission and court-related policy review committees. Ball State University Political Science Associate Professor Charles Taylor offered attendees a review of the results of the Hoosier Survey, which gathered public perception on local government issues, such as criminal justice reform and road funding.

County officials also learned about the 10-year impact of tax caps on Indiana’s local government tax structure from a Purdue agricultural economics professor.

Williams, Siegried Host Local BPW Meeting

The Indiana Federation of Business & Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. (BPW) of Knightstown had its December meeting at the Hoosier Gym Dec. 18 with Tina Williams and Carolyn Siegfried as hostesses. Knightstown BPW President Dana Jones presided.

Donations were made to Cheer Guild of Knightstown for the Christmas distribution to families on Dec. 23. Donations of shoes were made for the Knightstown High School baseball team’s shoe drive.

The program was presented by Williams and Siegfried. It was a fun evening. They had members do a Christmas carol quiz and a Christmas movie quotes quiz.

The January meeting was canceled because of the bad weather. The next meeting will be Feb. 28 at the Hoosier Gym at 6:30 p.m. with Jan McGuire as hostess.

The program will be on the Indiana Women's Education Foundation because February is state foundation month.

Women in the community are invited to attend any Knightstown BPW meeting on the third Monday of each month.

being their role model on and off the field."

At the clinic, Miller was invited to a roundtable discussion with other Power of Football team coaches. This included fellow Indiana high school coaches such as Bob Gaddis of Columbus East and Kurt Tippman of Fort Wayne Snider.

"We were videotaped and asked many questions about the Power of Football campaign that USA Football did on our teams last fall," said Miller. "It was very humbling to be in the room with these great coaches and to be able to share the Knightstown story."

Miller has been head coach at Knightstown for five years, but has been involved in coaching football for over 23 years. Starting at Evansville North High School in 1995, he went on to work at several different schools before finally settling in Knightstown.

He attended the University of Evansville after graduating high school, where he was a four-year letter winner and four-year starter at defensive tackle for the Aces.

"I have attended the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) conference before and have always been impressed with the knowledge being shared," said Miller. "We both were very thankful for USA Football and their generosity."

If the certificate is sold for an amount more than the minimum bid under Section 5 of IC 6-1.1-24 for which the tract or item of real property was last offered for sale and the property is not redeemed, the owner of record of the tract or item of real property who is divested of ownership at the time the tax deed is issued may have a right to the tax sale surplus.

Indiana law prohibits a person who owes delinquent taxes, special assessments, penalties, interest, or costs directly attributable to a prior tax sale, from purchasing tracts or items of real property at a tax sale. Prior to bidding at a tax sale, each bidder must affirm under the penalties for perjury that he or she does not owe delinquent taxes, special assessments, penalties, interest, costs directly attributable to a prior tax sale, amounts from a final adjudication in favor of a political subdivision in this county, any civil penalties imposed for the violation of a building code or ordinance of this county, or any civil penalties imposed by a health department in this county. Further, each bidder must acknowledge that any successful bid made in violation of the above statement is subject to forfeiture. In the event of forfeiture, the bid amount shall be applied to the delinquent taxes, special assessments, penalties, interest, costs, judgments, or civil penalties of the ineligible bidder, and a certificate will be issued to the county executive.

The Commissioners specifically reserve the right to withhold from the sale any parcel which has been listed in error, or which otherwise becomes ineligible for sale either prior to the start or during the duration of the auction. The Auditor's Office does not warrant the accuracy of the key numbers or street addresses published herein and any misstatement in the key number or street address does not invalidate an otherwise valid sale.

Registration for bidding in the auction:

Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-5.1, a business entity that seeks to register to bid in an Indiana Commissioners' Certificate Sale must provide to the county treasurer, a Certificate of Authority from, or proof of registration with the Secretary of State.

If you are interested in participating in this public auction, registration information and the procedures you must follow to bid are available online at www.zeusauction.com. In order to participate, you must become a member of the auction website (www.zeusauction.com). You must read, understand and agree to the rules of sale and payment terms. Once you become a member of the auction website, you must register for the auction described in this notice, specifically. Registration for the sale will close on April 3, 2018 at 10:00 AM local time. All real estate parcel minimum bids start at $100.00 each.

Please note that in order to bid in the online public auction, you must both complete IRS Form W-9 and agree to the registration statement described at IC 6-1.1-24-5.3(c) electronically, through the auction website.

Tri Girls Basketball Team Wins Sectional

Tri senior Payton Moore holds the team's sectional championship trophy up high for fans to see after the Lady Titans defeated Randolph Southern 46-44 in the final game of sectional 56 at Union City on Saturday night. (Stacy Cox photo)

In a rowdy sectional championship game at Union City Saturday night, Tri's Lady Titans hung on to claim the sectional title, beating Randolph Southern 46-44.

The game was close throughout as both teams worked to find an edge. The Lady Titans were up just one point, 15-14, at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter continued much like the first with intense defensive pressure on both ends when Auburn Harvey got the crowd fired up with a three-pointer just before the half to give the Lady Titans a 26-25 halftime lead.

Tri had built up a five point lead with a little over three minutes left in the third quarter, but Lady Rebels had tied the game up at 38 with just under six minutes left in the fourth quarter. Tri then began doing what it does best, driving the ball to the hoop and drawing the foul.

With just under a minute and half left in the fourth quarter with the game tied at 44, Tri senior Payton Moore was fouled underneath the basket on a shot attempt that knocked her to the floor. She missed the first free throw but took a deep breath and sank the second to give the Lady Titans a 45-44 lead.

The Lady Titans maintained their tough defense and Tri senior Lauren Bouslog rebounded the Randolph Southern missed shot. Harvey was fouled but missed the charity shot to give the Lady Rebels the ball back with just under 17 seconds left.

The Lady Rebels worked the ball around, looking for the game-winning shot but Bouslog stretched to knock a pass away and in the process had her glasses ripped off. She wasn't phased though and stayed with the ball, keeping it inbounds and drawing the foul. With 5.8 seconds left on the clock, Bouslog hit the front end of the one-and-one to give the Lady Titans a 46-44 lead.

After a timeout, the Lady Rebels final shot came up short and the Lady Titans' fans and cheerleaders rushed the floor in celebration.

Moore recorded her 13th double-double of the season with 14 points, 11 rebounds, two blocks and two assists.

Bouslog finished with eight points, four steals, one rebound and one assist.

Harvey also scored eight points and had two steals.

Averi Phelps provided tough defense the entire game and contributed six points, five rebounds and one block.

Maddie Burchett had five points, six assists, two rebounds and one steal.

Bayleigh Appleby also scored five points.

The Lady Titans now boast a record of 21-4 and move on to play Tri-Central at the Tipton regional Saturday, Feb. 10 at noon.

Tri Will Play at Tipton Regional

Following their sectional victory on Saturday night, the Tri Lady Titans advanced to regional 14 at Tipton High School taking place Saturday, Feb. 10.

Tipton's regional brings together the winners of sectionals at Clinton Central, North Vermillion, Southern Wells along with Union City, where Tri prevailed.

The Lady Titans will play Tri-Central in the second game on Saturday at noon, following the first game between Rockville and Southern Wells at 10 a.m. The winners of those games will compete for the regional title at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

The eighth-ranked Tri Lady Titans enter the regional with a 21-4 record. Sharpsville's Tri-Central is 14-10. Rockville brings a 19-7 record to the regional while Southern Wells comes with an 11-14 record.

Knightstown Boys Fall to Blue River 63-65 in OT

Fans who showed up at Blue River Valley High School on Feb. 1 for the boys varsity basketball game between the Vikings and the Knightstown Panthers certainly got their money's worth.

Both teams started out on fire and battled through one overtime before the Vikings edged out the Panthers 65-63.

Knightstown scored 19 in the first period, an exceptionally good quarter for any team. But, Blue River was even hotter and knocked down 22 to take the early lead.

The Panthers outscored the Vikings 10-9 in the second quarter to head into the locker room down 29-31. Neither team could get a run going the rest of the game, keeping the game close throughout.

The Panthers outscored the Vikings by a point in the third quarter, 12-11, and in fourth quarter, 16-15, to tie the game up at 57 at the end of regulation.

The Panthers had the lead and seemed to be set to get the win when Blue River missed a free throw, but the clock was slow to start back up, giving the Vikings enough time to throw up a shot that sent the game into overtime.

In the extra period, the Vikings topped the Panthers 8-6 to get the 65-63 win.

The Panthers were led by Jarred Porter and Tyler Burton, who combined for 43 points.

Porter finished with 23 points, five rebounds, three assists and two steals.

Tyler Burton scored a career-high 20 points and nearly posted his first double-double with nine rebounds. He also made two assists and two steals.

Treavor Cook had nine points, four rebounds, one assist and one steal. Tucker Personett posted seven points.

Owen Wiles tallied four points, three rebounds, two assists and one steal.

Jose Olivo had four rebounds, one steal and one assist.

Garrett Thomas and Lane Parker each added one rebound.

The loss dropped Knightstown to 5-11 on the season.

The Panthers are on the road for the next three outings. They play at Greenfield-Central Feb. 8, at North Decatur Feb. 10 and at Southwestern Shelby Feb. 13.

Lady Titans Defeat BRV, Union to Advance

The first round game of sectional 56 for Tri's Lady Titans was a tale of two halves. Luckily for the Lady Titans, their first half performance in the Jan. 30 game at Union City was enough to cover their lackluster second half to give them a 42-34 win over Blue River Valley, moving them on to the sectional semifinal.

Tri dominated the first half, outscoring the Lady Vikings 10-2 in the first quarter and 16-7 in the second quarter to give them a 26-9 halftime lead.

But, Blue River wasn't going to end their season on such a down note and came out much stronger in the second half. The Lady Vikings picked up their defense and got their shots to fall, outpacing the Lady Titans 12-7 in the third quarter and 13-9 in the fourth quarter. Though their rally came up short of the win, they Lady Vikings put in a valiant effort to finish the season.

Seniors Payton Moore and Lauren Bouslog combined for 33 of the team's 42 points.

Moore came in with their 12th double-double of the season, finishing with 17 points and 13 points. She added one block and two steals.

Bouslog scored 16 points and had three rebounds and two steals.

Averi Phelps was huge on the boards, pulling down 12 rebounds to go along with her three points and one steal. Auburn Harvey drained two three-pointers and had one rebound and one assist.

Maddie Burchett made four assists, one steal and three rebounds.

Tri Demolishes Union 50-9

The Lady Titans kept their season going with a blowout win, 50-9, over Union in the semifinal game of sectional 56 at Union City Feb. 2.

Union had enjoyed a first round bye but that didn't help them in their matchup against Tri. The Lady Titans' dominance from the start allowed them to build a huge lead and get their starters some rest while the bench saw some action on the court.

Payton Moore led the Lady Titans with 12 points, four rebounds, one block and one assist.

Auburn Harvey finished with eight points, three steals and two rebounds

Freshman Madison Hill had six points, eight rebounds and one steal. Madeline Hoover also posted six points, eight rebounds and one steal.

Averi Phelps scored six points and got six rebounds, one block and one assist.

Lauren Bouslog had four points, four assists, three steals, one block and one rebound

Maddie Burchett pumped in a three-pointer and made four steals, three assists and one rebound.

Makenna Hawk had three points, four rebounds, four steals and two assists.

Bayleigh Appleby knocked down two free throws and handed out one assist.

Lady Titans Beat Lady Royals to End Regular Season

Tri's varsity girls basketball team closed out its regular season with a win 42-38 over Eastern Hancock at home.

The teams went back and forth in the first quarter, ending it tied at 10. Tri then dominated the second quarter, 14-5, to take a 24-15 lead into the break.

The start of the second half was much like the first half with both teams again scoring 10 points. Down 25-34, the Lady Royals rallied and though they outscored the Lady Titans 13-8, they came up short of the win.

Logging her 11th double-double this season, Payton Moore led the Lady Titans with 16 points and 14 rebounds along with one block, one assist and one steal.

Lauren Bouslog finished with eight points, five assists, three rebounds and two steals.

Averi Phelps tallied six points, five rebounds and one steal.

Auburn Harvey scored four points, pulled down five rebounds and made three assists and two steals.

The team's other freshman starter, Maddie Burchett, had four points, four steals, three assists and one rebound.

Allison Kingery knocked down one bucket and grabbed three rebounds.

Bayleigh Appleby added one basket and a steal.

Freshman Chloe O'Neal led the Lady Royals with 10 points and five rebounds. Bailey Allen had nine points and Haley Best scored seven. Jenna Smith led the Lady Royals on the boards with six rebounds.

The game against Tri was the final game of the regular season for the Lady Royals too, moving their record to 13-9.

The win gave the Lady Titans an 18-4 overall season record to end the regular season. They were 5-3 in the Tri-Eastern Conference.

Kiwanis Club, 'Shoe Sensation' Team Up for Annual Shoe Giveaway

Kiwanian Jon McCutchen helps KES kindergartener Makenzee Mefford pick the right shoe.

The Henry County Kiwanis Club's annual shoe giveaway got started two years ago and reaches out to all county schools. About 600 pairs of new sneakers will be given out in Henry County this year, according to Kiwanian Jon McCutchen.

On Jan. 29, the club gave 35 pairs of sneakers to Knightstown Intermediate School kids, and returned to give out 61 more pairs Friday at the elementary school. Kiwanians fund the shoe giveaway with a couple different annual fundraisers, including the New Castle Fly-In. But, Shoe Sensation partners in the giveaway as well, discounting shoes to keep the average per-pair price at about $35.

KES Principal Danielle Carmichael and CAB Supeintendent Jed Behny agreed that the shoe giveaway is a great program for local kids.

Carmichael said it's heartwarming to see kids get excited about picking out colorful new shoes and a fresh pair of new socks. Indeed, few would argue that there's little more comforting than putting on a new pair of socks and shoes.

"Watching them pick out shoes is definitely a good way to get your day started," the smiling principal said.
