Local Contractor Building New Mexican Restaurant

by Jeff Eakins
for The Banner

Dining out options in Knightstown are expected to expand within the next few months to include the town's first Mexican restaurant.

The Knightstown Town Council was advised last Thursday near the end of its monthly meeting of plans for a Mexican restaurant to be built on the east side of the town's public square.

Ben Bowling, the town's building inspector, told council members he had issued a permit earlier that day allowing construction on the new 3,200 square-foot single-story eatery to start the next day. Not wanting to waste one moment of good weather, local contractor Rusty Johnson got to work on the site last Friday.

Johnson and his wife, Debra, own the property at 11 N. Washington St., just south of the veterans memorial, where the restaurant will be located. Johnson told The Banner they plan to retain ownership of the building, while leasing it to a couple of men who will run the restaurant.

"The deal is, we're actually building the building," Johnson explained. "It's on our property. ... Then we're going to lease it to a couple gentlemen who are going to run the restaurant."

While the time frame for completing construction work depends heavily on the weather, Johnson said he hopes to be finished before the end of summer.

"It's probably going to take about four months, truthfully," Johnson said. "By the time we get the building built, there's so much to do inside ... with the cooking equipment and the refrigeration."

Johnson said the new establishment will be a "sit-down, family-type Mexican restaurant." He said the people who will be running the restaurant hope to have a small bar area as well, but that a permit allowing alcohol sales still needs to be obtained from the state.

At this time, Johnson said he was not yet prepared to announce the name of the new restaurant or identify who will be running it. Because those persons are presently employed elsewhere, he said he didn't want to jeopardize their current jobs by revealing who they are when there is still several months of work left before the new place will be ready to open.

"It's probably going to take about four months, truthfully. By the time we get the building built, there's so much to do inside ... with the cooking equipment and the refrigeration."

CAB Schedules Registration for 2018-2019 School Year

by Jeff Eakins
for The Banner

With the current school year winding down, the Charles A. Beard Memorial School Corp. is already looking ahead to the next one.

Superintendent Jed Behny told members of the CAB School Board last week at their April 17 monthly meeting that registration for the 2018-2019 school year has been scheduled for two days in late July.

As the district has done in recent years, registration for all CAB students will be held at Knightstown High School, 8149 W. U.S. Hwy. 40. Behny said the registration hours for Tuesday, July 24, will be 1-7 p.m., and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. the following day.

Acting on a recommendation from Behny, the board voted at last week's meeting to expand its summer school offerings to include remediation in language arts and math for students in grades 4-6. Behny said he expected there to be eight to 12 students at each grade level, and said CAB will provide transportation for the students.

Board members also acted last week to give CAB Treasurer/Business Manager Stephanie Madison permission to apply to the state for a protected taxes waiver. If granted, the waiver allows the district to use its Debt Service Fund to absorb some of the losses it experiences due to property tax caps.

According to information Madison provided board members, the protected taxes waiver CAB received from the state last year allowed the district to avoid $137,151.38 in cuts to the Capital Projects, Transportation and Bus Replacement funds. By instead making these cuts to its Debt Service Fund, CAB was allowed to avoid cutting $60,842.71 from Capital Projects and $62,502.82 and $13,805.85, respectively, from the Transportation and Bus Replacement funds.

Board President Wade Beatty clarified that utilizing this waiver will still leave CAB enough money in its Debt Service Fund to meet its financial obligations. He said the waiver simply gives the district greater flexibility in how it manages its finances.

In other financial business at last week's meeting, the school board approved payment of monthly claims totaling $847,600.06. Of that amount, $402,777.66 was for prewritten claims, $134,838.04 was for current claims and $309,984.36 was for payroll.

Following up on an issue he first brought to the board's attention at its March meeting, Behny said he is still in the process of gathering

Knightstown Town Council Considering New Siren

by Jeff Eakins
for The Banner

The Knightstown Town Council is considering replacing the town's three outdated tornado sirens with a single, more powerful model.

Knightstown Chief of Police Chris Newkirk told council members last week at their April 19 monthly meeting that it would cost $16,677 to upgrade the town's current trio of tornado sirens. The big problem, Newkirk explained, is that it's not possible to get replacement parts for the sirens, which are each more than 30 years old.

Instead of updating the old sirens, Newkirk suggested the council approve purchasing a new, stronger siren that could cover the whole town itself. If town employees were to do the needed electric work to install it, he said the new siren would cost $28,000.

Steve Dhondt of ERS-OCI Wireless told the council that the three sirens presently in use in Knightstown are, basically, "obsolete." He said the new siren would be "much louder" than the current ones and could be controlled by two-way radio by Henry County officials.

Council President Sarah Ward asked Clerk-Treasurer Beth Huffman where the town would get the funds to pay for a new siren. Huffman said the town will have some savings from its plans to close the local dispatch center, and explained that the town would need to get state approval for an additional appropriation allowing it to spend those funds.

Gregg Morelock, the town's attorney, told the council that, normally, three bids would be needed for an item costing this much. However, he said that if ERS-OCI's bid and another from a second firm are the only ones the town could get, a third bid would not be required.

Morelock also said that he and the council would want to review detailed warranty information on the siren and the purchase agreement before voting to buy a new siren. He suggested that the council address this matter again at its May meeting.

Ward noted that one of the council's five members - Roger Hammer - would not be able to attend the council's May 17 monthly meeting due to a work obligation. To accommodate Hammer, who also did not attend last week's meeting, the council voted to move next month's meeting up a week to May 10.

Dhondt told the council that it can take eight to 10 weeks to get a new tornado siren installed and up and running properly. If the council gives the go-ahead at its May 10 meeting, he said he thought the siren could be all ready to go by Friday, July 20.

In a related matter, Newkirk also advised the council at last week's meeting that he would like to push back the planned closure of Knightstown's dispatch center to Wednesday, Aug. 1. The initial plan had been to close the dispatch center by May 21, 90 days after the council voted to close it and have the county handle all dispatch responsibilities, but Newkirk said more time was needed to get the tornado siren and other communication issues fully addressed.

More information about the April 19 monthly meeting of the Knightstown Town Council can be found in the memoranda and minutes of that proceeding. Those public records are available for inspection and copying at Knightstown Town Hall, 26 S. Washington St., during normal business hours.

Banner PERSPECTIVES

Thinking of Getting a Pet? Think again.

There it was on the TV news again: animal welfare workers unloading dozens of neglected pets from a home in Madison County. I'm not a member of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) or the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA), but I don't think one has to support those groups in order to be pro-animal.

Pet ownership, to me, is a real privilege - one that shouldn't be taken lightly. Any kind of pet deserves care, whether it's a goldfish or a giraffe. Mistreating these creatures, by choice or neglect, is a particularly nasty crime. And when people get charged with animal neglect, I have to wonder who they are and why they did that.

Not all of those charged with animal neglect are devious sadists looking to deliberately abuse animals. Some, like the Madison County folks, took in stray animals to simply give them a home and some food. But, their kindness apparently changed to neglect when they got too many animals and couldn't feed them all.

Feeding extra mouths can get expensive. My advice to those who already have children is not to add extra weight to what might be already-strained finances. People should wait till they can really afford the extra expenses pets bring. Feed your baby first!

Food is just one minor expense relating to pet ownership. Veterinary bills can be enormous and, often, unexpected additions on weekly budgets. Keeping the various animal vaccinations up-to-date are routine, but costly expenses also.

I admit that the temptation to own a dog or cat is often great, especially when handling puppies or kittens at the shelter or pet store. It might seem one can't live without the other. But, people should carefully consider the commitment.

Many dogs require daily exercise and, maybe more importantly, a place to do it. Those who live in apartments or houses with no appreciable yard should think twice before getting a big dog that needs to run every day.

My friend, Heather Hamilton, is an animal welfare worker. She's totally committed to her job and the animals she serves. But, I'm frankly tired of seeing her get called on at all hours (and sometimes endangering herself) just to capture some loose, stray or abandoned animal. She loves doing it, of course. But, if more animal owners were more responsible, she wouldn't have to care for neglected dogs and cats. In a perfect world, their owners would do that.

But, this isn't a perfect world and, often, when people are tired of their pets or can't afford them anymore, they simply dump them somewhere - no longer their problem.

That's horrible, folks. Don't get a pet if you're not totally committed to housing and caring for that animal - not just for a few weeks, but for its whole life.

Also, take time to get that pet spayed or neutered. Animal shelters are brimming with pets whose reproduction wasn't part of the original plan.

Better yet, if you want a pet, get a guppy.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Whether you are a beginning farmer or have been farming for 30 years, it is important to know resources are available to assist you in your farming venture - through education, technical assistance, mediation, or counseling.

Maybe you'd like financial counseling, or support during land transition, but aren't sure where to go? Are you concerned about your farming operation or do you need mediation services?

The Center for Rural Affairs has compiled a list of well-established organizations to aid farmers in navigating these resources. While this list is not all-inclusive, it covers a wide array of services.

Center for Rural Affairs, 402-687-2100, www.cfra.org, operates a helpline with information on farm bill programs that can help farmers or ranchers get started or implement conservation programs. Staff make referrals to organizations that may better address questions or concerns.

Farm Aid, 800-327-6243, www.farmaid.org, connects farmers to resources with an online directory listing more than 750 organizations. Farm Aid also provides information on farm start-ups, sustainable agriculture, legal issues in farming, farm financing, and farm activism and organizing.

Michigan State University Extension, 517-279-4311, msue.anr.msu.edu, has a free online program. "Weathering the Storm: How to Manage Stress on the Farm," addresses signs and symptoms of chronic stress and helps farmers cope with challenges.

Dear Editor,

The special state legislative session should have been unnecessary if the governor and supermajority in the legislature had done their jobs. The GOP controls the statewide offices plus top majorities in both houses of the state legislature, yet they could not get their agenda passed and enacted.

They did nothing about gerrymandering reform. With a state that has one of the worst voting turnouts, they didn't pass letting voters cast an absentee ballot without an excuse. With a possibility of getting Amazon's HQ2, they set back light rail again. Hate crime legislation wasn't approved, leaving us as one of only five states without such protections in law.

They may have crippled the state's fast growing solar industry, a source of jobs that can't be shipped overseas. Nothing like letting utilities rule over what save residencies, churches, schools and businesses money.

Maybe it's time to give the other political team a chance; they can't do any worse!

Dear Editor,

Representative Ben Smaltz fancies himself a champion for Indiana's unborn, who has contributed to a dramatic decline in abortions in Indiana.

Standing in stark contrast to that claim is the deadly fact that in 2017 and 2018, Smaltz, as chair of the House Public Policy Committee, refused to give the Protection at Conception Bill, which would save 8,000 preborn babies every year, a hearing or a vote.

Mother Always Knows Best

(Originally published May 7, 2008)

"M" is for the many things she gave me.

"O" is that she's only growing old.

"T" is for the tears she said to save me.

"H" is for her heart of purest gold.

"E" is for her eyes with love-light shining.

Put them all together, they spell "Mother"-

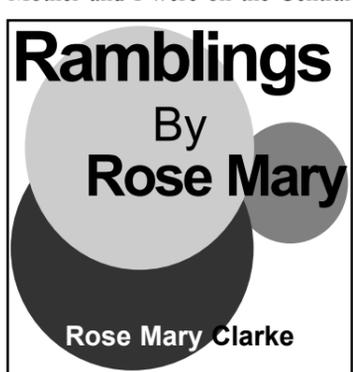

A word that means the world to me.

The above was written by a songwriter named Howard Johnson. Bill said that his sister-in-law, Esther, used to sing it to irritate her daughters and let them know what was what. I can't imagine my grandsons warbling that little ditty that we learned when we were kids. I suspect that they'd make retching noises at the thought of it. Theirs is a much less sentimental generation.

Mother's Day is one of those holidays that brings back both poignant and funny memories: While she was here for a visit, Vicki and we fell to reminiscing about the irritating and/or funny things that parents put up with. As Art Linkletter says, "Kids do the darnedest things!" They get into their diapers while supposed to be napping and smear dung over everything that they can reach. ... They give each other horrible haircuts. ... Their lock themselves in bathrooms and can't get out. ...

Bill's older brother, Lex, asked him if he'd like to know what it felt like to be hanged. "Well, I guess so," replied Bill. Using a coat hanger, Lex proceeded to hang him from a closet hook. One Saturday, Mother and I were on the Central Swallow bus. A little boy who had a paper sack on his head was sticking his arm out the window. Concerned, Mother said, "Ma'am, your little boy has his arm out the window."

"I don't care! This has been the worst day of my life! First he poured a whole box of laundry soap in the washing machine, and suds went all over the kitchen. Then he got into the pie I'd baked for the church dinner. Next he cut off the cat's whiskers. You'll never guess what's on his head. He jammed his potty on it, and I can't get it off. I've already been to two towns, trying to find someone to cut it off. I'm on my way to Greenfield."

I was not pleased when Vicki took her little fishing pole and put a hook through the lip of her Christmas puppy, "Rudolph-the-Red-Nosed-Reindeer-Dog," an obstreperous, stupid mutt. Traffic stopped, and people laughed while he frolicked along behind me at the end of a fishing line until we arrived at the home of a neighbor who had wire cutters.

Vicki cackled about the time that her boys decided to make cookies. Hearing their shrieks of delight, she discovered that they'd broken a dozen eggs on the floor and were sliding around in them. "I thought about spanking them, but they were too funny."

One of my cousins picked the buds off my uncle's prize peonies. Next she got a butcher knife and stabbed the upholstery of her parents' new car. "Did you spank her?" my mother asked my aunt. "No. If I'd touched her, I might have killed her."

Jean told about the huge fight that her mother and she had when Jean was about 11 years old. Her mother bought an ugly straw sailor hat with streamers for her and insisted that she wear it to church. Jean refused to wear it, and they

Casting About for Success in the Angling World, Tanner Sharp Finds Local Bass Fishing Club

by Logan Cox
for The Banner

With the guidance of his father and a mutual love of fishing, Tanner Sharp is on the path to becoming a professional bass fisherman. In pursuit of this goal, he has formed his own high school bass fishing club, Henry County Bassin'.

Having started in the spring of last year, the club is still small in numbers. Yet Sharp is hopeful that it will be an open door for other youths who share his passion for angling.

"There's two in a boat, so right now there's only two, me and another kid," said Sharp. "But we're looking for more to grow the club as a whole."

His father, Brian Sharp, is currently overseeing Tanner and fellow high school fisherman Dakota Ball in this endeavor.

"High school bass fishing has exploded across the country. It leads up into collegiate bass fishing, where now there are actually full-ride scholarships that are given to four-year division one schools; i.e., Indiana University, Auburn," said Brian, a Knightstown resident. "Those types of schools actually have collegiate fishing teams that compete against one another. So it's just a huge explosion in bass fishing, which is really pretty cool."

Sharp's interest in fishing, both as a hobby and a profession, is derived from his relationship with his father. The two would often fish together during Tanner's childhood.

"As I got older I saw the passion that he had for it," said Tanner. "Every morning we'd wake up and watch tournament fishing on TV."

Upon turning sixteen, he began fishing on his own. "I fished the first high school tournament in the spring of 2016. And I'm hooked," said Tanner, no pun intended. "Now it's all I do, all I live for. I started the club to make sure that other kids who are just like me have the opportunity to do the same thing I am."

Henry County Bassin' is already making great progress in the high school fishing circuit, and the Sharps are eager to continue moving forward.

"Last year we attended the high school world finals for the first time," said Tanner. "We finished third in the state of Indiana and 70th out of 332 boats. Then we are going back this year, in June, to the high school finals as well to hopefully improve ourselves and make a better statement."

According to Brian, "A big part of being a professional angler is being a salesman type of guy."

In this aspect, Tanner is already displaying the knowledge and drive required to see his aspirations through.

"You work your way up through the ladder. You start at high school, and in the World Finals you can win scholarships. Last year they gave $80,000 worth of scholarships away. So then they have college fishing, where you can compete on a college level with the NCAA. And if you win that, or make a statement through sponsors, you get to fish on what they call the Bassmasters' Elite Series, which is professional."

In the Bassmasters' Elite Series, there are around seven tournaments per year in which fisherman compete with points. Winning one of these tournaments got into a huge screaming match that was so bad that Jean's quiet father finally sided with Jean and put an end to it. "We laugh about it now, but we certainly didn't laugh then!"

Sometimes the best of motherly intentions go awry! Our friend Jana, a guidance counselor and a person who always tries to do her absolute best, decided that she needed to interact more with her children. She had cozy visions of the happy family making Christmas cookies together. They didn't want to make cookies. They fought and whined, and the kitchen was a mess. Exasperated, she decided that she was not going to be Mother of the Year.

She established a Christmas tradition of having the children gather round while the nativity scene was being set up and carefully explained its meaning. When their son, Adam, was four years old John and she discovered that he had put Baby Jesus in a matchbox car and was racing him around the Christmas tree. She said, "You know, I really felt as if I had failed, somehow." Personally, I suspect that He would have enjoyed it!

Good Citizens, Essay Contest Winners Recognized by DAR

Nine members and two guests attended the Major Hugh Dinwiddie Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) meeting on April 7, hosted by Amelia Wyatt and Darlene Petry at Knightstown United Methodist Church. This meeting honored the DAR Good Citizens and Christopher Columbus essay contest winners.

Wyatt said she was pleased to introduce Zoey Hunsinger, a Knightstown High School student who received the Good Citizen Award. Her mother, Shawn Hunsinger, also attended.

Keayra Hamby was the Good Citizen winner from Tri Jr-Sr. High School. Her parents are Brandon and Tina-Lee Hamby. The Good Citizens had to write a historical essay on World War I.

Petry announced that Tri student Olivia Carolina Meeker was the Christopher Columbus essay contest winner. She is the daughter of Jeff Meeker of Greenfield and Christine Meeker Marsee. Petry said Olivia had prior commitments and was unable to attend.

In order for students to receive these prestigious awards they not only have to write an essay, but have to have two letters of recommendation and a complete a summary of extracurricular activities. They also have to complete at least two hours of community service. Their teachers, faculty and fellow students have to recommend them as well.

Refreshments were served.

Regent Denise Akers called the meeting to order after the presentation of the awards.

The treasurer's report was read by Dianne Taylor. Katie Lewman gave the "Health Note" report on infant mortality - the number of infant deaths under the age of one year old per 1,000 live births.

Members discussed the annual outing in August. Lori Pierce suggested visiting the Broad Ripple American Legion, where her brother works. Another idea included traveling to the Vietnam War memorial wall that will be in Middletown's park Sept. 27-30.

Zoey Hunsinger (center) receives her award.

I n researching Barbara Lacy's ancestor for "Real Daughter" information. Akers found that there is a society called the D O R , Daughters of t h e Revolution of 1776. Catherine Kirkwood was 91 when she was honored in Muncie with the Golden Spoon. There are only 153 of these spoons known to exist. They were presented to "Real Daughters." Pictures of the spoon were shown. Akers mentioned a chapter in Texas that had 600 members.

The President's General Message was passed around for all to read. The National Defender was shared.

Akers thanked everyone for making the coasters for the district meeting. This will be Aug. 8 at First Nazarene Church on Weber Road in Greenfield. The local chapter will co-host with the Greenfield chapter.

It is estimated there should be at least 70 in attendance. Petry volunteered to give The American's Creed and Linda Ashwill stated that she would give the Preamble to the Constitution at this district meeting.

The next meeting will be hosted by Taylor in Greenfield at the Ponderosa restaurant.

Absentee Ballots Offered Until April 30

Indiana's Primary Election is right around the corner. Tuesday, May 8, is Primary Election Day – polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. local time. If you cannot make it to the polls on Election Day, you can vote early in-person or absentee – but the deadline to request an absentee ballot is quickly approaching.

To cast an absentee ballot by mail in the 2018 Primary Election, you must request an application from the county clerk's office by 11:59 p.m. on Monday, April 30. Applications may be submitted in person, by fax, email or by mail.

"Voting is a right that many have fought for; please don't take it for granted," said Secretary of State

Connie Lawson. "If you are casting an absentee ballot this spring, I urge you not to delay and to request your ballot today. Waiting until the last moment increases the chance that your request will not be received in time. An absentee application only takes a few minutes to complete, so set aside that time today."

Early voting in-person is ongoing. You can cast your ballot by going to your county clerk's office. Some counties have additional early voting locations. To find out where you can vote, check online at IndianaVoters.com or download the Indiana Voters app on your smartphone or tablet. Early voting in the clerk's office ends Monday, May 7, at noon.

School Board Chooses Terre Haute Bleacher Vendor

by Jeff Eakins
for The Banner

The Charles A. Beard School Board voted unanimously last week to hire a Terre Haute-based company to replace the plastic tops of the bleachers in the Knighthstown High School gym.

The board's seven members voted at their April 17 monthly meeting to accept a $69,500 bid from Lee Company Inc. for this work. A second vendor, Toadvine, Enterprises, Fisherville, Ky., had submitted a bid of $51,393.

Both companies' bids were a little lower than original estimates they had previously submitted. A month earlier, at the school board's March 20 monthly meeting, Lee, the company that had installed the original KHS bleachers that are to be replaced, was proposing to do the work for $76,000, while Tovine's estimate was $57,356.

Despite a 35-percent higher price, CAB Athletic Director Matt Martin told the school board at last week's meeting that he favored having Lee replace the bleachers. Noting Toadvine had never installed its plastic bleacher tops on an existing structural framework like that which supports the KHS bleachers, he said he was concerned their bleacher tops may not be fully compatible, resulting in instability and safety issues.

When board members discussed this issue at their March meeting, some expressed interest in possibly switching to wooden bleacher tops. Lee had initially proposed replacing the plastic tops with wooden planks of 3/4-inch yellow pine for $84,000, but, by last week's meeting, had lowered that price to $78,410. Toadvine did not provide an estimate for wooden bleacher tops.

Martin told board members he preferred to stick with the red plastic seating in the gym. He said he worried there might be compatibility issues with switching to wooden bleacher tops, and also said that, aesthetically, he thought the red plastic bleacher tops look better in the KHS gym.

Board member John Swartz said he had reviewed information about wooden bleachers on Lee's website. While he said he thought the wooden seating might last longer than the plastic, he said he thought the wooden option was "pretty ugly."

Board President Wade Beatty made a motion to approve Martin's recommendation that Lee's bid of $69,500 be accepted and board member Steve Ferrell seconded it. With the support of Swartz and the board's other four members - Graham Richardson, Gerald Leonard, Tom Schaezle and Vice President Suzee Neal - it passed 7-0.

As previously reported in The Banner, the board voted at its March 20 meeting to pay for the new bleacher tops with money from the district's Rainy Day Fund. Martin told board members at last week's meeting that Lee expects to be able to have the bleachers replaced by Aug. 1.

There is a rumor that Spring is in the air and temperatures are rising. Now remember, this is Indiana and it could be snowing next week. As the weather warms up so do requests for donations and help from many charities and organizations.

out and help, there are a number of proven, valid groups that you should look into.

May is the start of National Military Appreciation Month. It is a declaration that encourages U.S. citizens to observe the month in a symbol of unity. This month honors the current and former members of the U.S. Armed Forces, including those who have died in the pursuit of freedom.

There are lots of ways to show your gratitude for our military veterans and active duty members. You can say thank you to veterans and service members. They can be found having breakfast in restaurants, shopping for groceries, or walking down the street. They can often be identified by their ball caps and or jackets with patches of service branches and units.

Active military members, wherever they are, appreciate a letter from home. Or maybe you can send a care package to someone who is deployed overseas. Depending on the contents, make sure you designate male or female. You can volunteer with a local veterans' group or organization or maybe attend an event. You can also support one of the many great organizations that are serving active and retired members of our military and their families.

For more information about National Military Appreciation Month, go to www.militarybenefits.info/national-military-appreciation-month.

If you would like to donate to help veterans or maybe help out personally, there is a web site that lists groups and organizations that have been vetted and reviewed. The site is www.charitynavigator.org. It's a funky looking address, but the site holds a wealth of information. The organizations are divided into three groups: Wounded Troops Services, Military Social Services and Military Family Support.

A couple examples of each group are as follows. Wounded Troops Services: Hope for Warriors, Adaptive Sports Center, The Gary Sinise Foundation. Military Social Services: Challenged Athletes, Hire Heroes USA, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America. Military Family Support: Air Force Aid Society, National Veterans Foundation, Our Military Kids.

What are biosolids?

Biosolids are the safe and useful nutrient-rich organic matter that remains after your community's wastewater goes through several treatment processes.

Why use biosolids in your garden?

- Nutrients in biosolids are released slowly as the organic matter breaks down, providing a continuous source of food.

- Soil quality and the soil's ability to absorb and store moisture improve with biosolids use.

- Farmers have been using biosolids for many years to stimulate plant growth.

Is it really safe?

- Federal and state standards on biosolids are designed to protect human health and the environment.

- Before biosolids can be sold to the general public, the treatment process must limit disease causing organisms, such as bacteria or virus.

- All biosolids producers must submit reports to show that they are meeting rigorous standards.

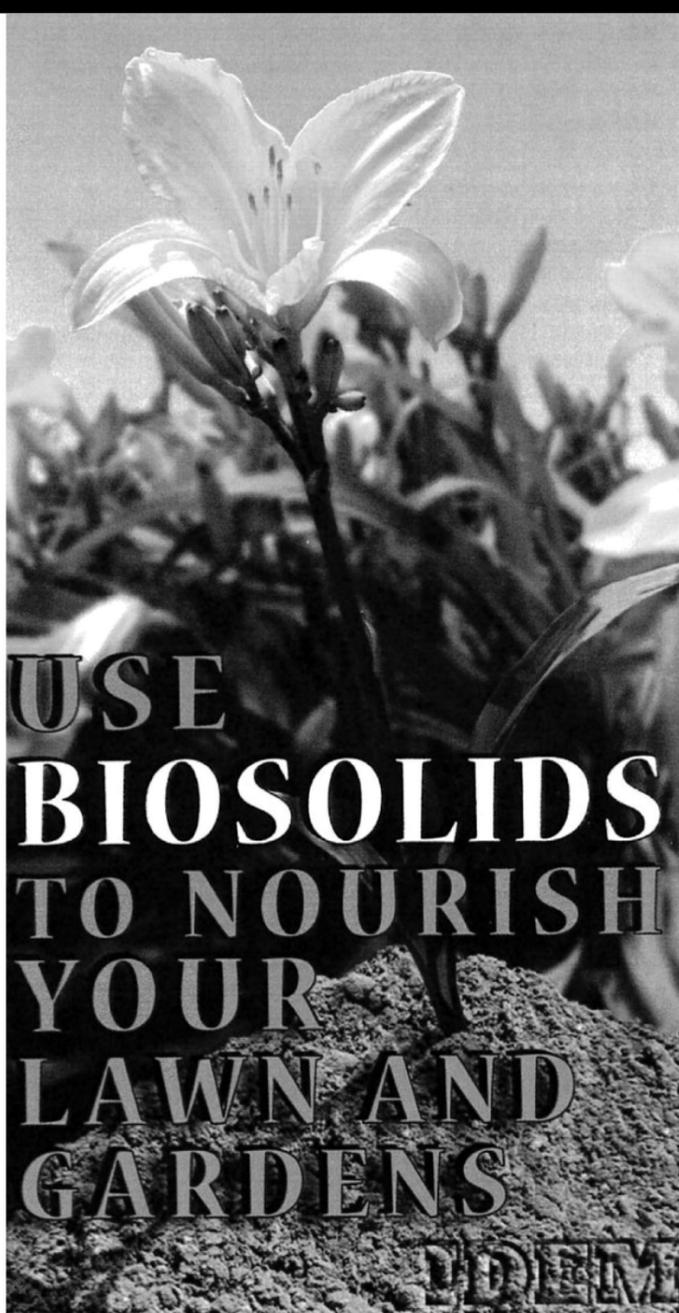

- Producers must have a permit from the Indiana Department of Environmental Management if their product will be used for land application or marketing and distribution.

Help promote recycling

You can help your community's recycling efforts by using biosolids for your gardening and fertilizing needs. In some cases, it's free if you load and haul it yourself. Call or visit your treatment facility for details.

Want more information about biosolids?

Contact your local Publicly Owned Treatment Works at (317) 477-4360 or call the Indiana Department of Environmental Management at (800) 451-6027 or (317) 232-4473. Smaltz is no champion. He may vote for legislation that fiddles around the edges of abortion, but last year, he singlehandedly killed the strongest piece of pro-life legislation yet introduced in Indiana.

Frederic Douglass, escaped slave and 19th-century abolitionist, was a champion.

Harriet Tubman, escaped slave who helped American slaves escape slavery along the secret route to freedom known as the Underground Railroad, was a champion.

William Wilberforce, British politician prominent in the struggle to abolish the slave trade and then to abolish slavery in British overseas possessions, was a champion.

Representative Curt Nisly, who sponsored the Protection at Conception legislation which would abolish abortion, is a champion for Indiana's unborn, but Ben Smaltz is not.

Voting for legislation that fiddles around the edges of abortion, saving some babies and callously condemning others is not the mark of a champion, and neither is killing legislation that would end abortion in Indiana.

Ben Smaltz can claim to be a pro-life champion, but 8,000 babies aborted every year say otherwise.

No ifs, no ands, no buts, no maybes; Smaltz killed the bill that would save the babies

KHS Senior Lauren Wineman Makes Ball State Cheer Team

Knightstown High School senior Lauren Wineman has earned a spot on the Ball State University coed cheerleading team for next school year.

The three-year varsity Panther cheerleader originally thought she would choose a college farther from home but changed her mind after attending some open gyms to practice at the university.

"I fell in love with the atmosphere," said Wineman.

About 75 girls tried out for the open spots on the BSU coed and all-girl cheer teams. The two-day try-outs included performing the school's fight song in groups and running tumbling on the first day, then cuts were made. Wineman made it through those cuts to move on to the stunting portion of the tryouts, which were held at Worthen Arena.

After the stunting portion, second round cuts were made and Wineman made it through those too. The girls still left were asked to return the following day.

"When I came back the next day, we stunted mainly and at the end found out that the people left were the team," explained Wineman. "I was very excited."

Wineman, who plans to become a nurse practitioner in pediatrics and hopes to open her own practice someday, has received several mental attitude awards over the years and was a member of Knightstown's 2017 state championship cheer team.

She recently served as a Varsity It Girl, an exclusive team comprising the best 125 cheerleaders across the nation. She also participated on the Cheer Fusion Elite Senior 4, a competition team out of Pendleton.

Panthers Suffer Tough Week With Three Losses

It's been a tough week for Knightstown's varsity baseball team with the Panthers falling in three straight outings.

First Loss at New Field

On April 17, the Panthers suffered their first-ever loss on their new field when, despite an impressive performance from KHS pitcher Kaunner Cleek, they just couldn't get their bats going and fell to Northeastern, 0-3.

Cleek pitched six innings, giving up three hits and one earned run, while repeatedly sending Knights back to the dugout. He struck out 17 of the 25 batters he faced with only two walks.

Northeastern's pitcher also had a good day on the mound, striking out 10 Panthers and allowing just two hits. Levi Back singled in the bottom of the fifth with two outs and was left on base. Kaleb Buchanan had the other KHS hit when he connected on the first pitch in the bottom of the sixth inning for a solid line drive to left field. Buchanan stole second base but Northeastern struck out the next three batters, leaving him on base.

The Knights scored a run in the top of the fourth and held a 1-0 lead until the top of the seventh. With over 100 pitches thrown by Cleek, Jose Olive was moved over to the mound to close out the game. The Knights were all over him from the start.

After taking on a 2-2 count, the first Northeastern batter smacked a double and the next batter singled. A wild pitch allowed the runner to score. Another base hit drove in the third run and the Panthers were unable to rally in the bottom of the seventh to suffer the tough loss.

KHS Falls at New Castle

The Panthers got knocked again on April 19 when they were defeated 2-10 on the road at New Castle.

Knightstown got off to a positive start, putting two runs on the board in the first inning when Owen Wiles pounded the ball over the left field fence, bringing in Olivo who had reached base to lead off the game after the third baseman fumbled his grounder.

The Panthers held the 2-0 lead until the bottom of the second when New Castle scored three runs. Those two early runs would be the only scoring by the Panthers. Wiles had the only two hits for KHS when he also had a single in the top of the sixth inning.

The Trojans were scoreless in the third and fourth innings, holding on to its 3-2 lead, until they scored three runs in the fifth inning and four more in the sixth to come away with the 10-2 victory.

Tyler Burton got the start on the mound for the Panthers and picked up the loss. He threw four innings and was replaced in the fifth inning by Levi Back after New Castle had scored another run to go up 4-2.

The Panthers committed a couple of fielding errors to allow two more runs to score before getting out of the inning, then down 2-6.

Wiles got his other hit but the Trojans closed out the top of the sixth with strikeouts to get back to the plate. Knightstown's Back hit at a batter with a pitch, gave up a single and walked the next batter to load the bases in the bottom of the sixth before another fielding error allowed two more Trojan runners to score.

Back walked another batter to load the bases again. Jarred Porter relieved Back on the mound and walked the first batter he faced to send in the Trojans' ninth run. New Castle hit another single to score again and go up 10-2 before the Panthers closed out the inning.

Knightstown went down 1-2-3 in the top of the seventh, resulting in their second loss of the season.

Burton struck out four batters and walked four while giving up four hits and six runs, with just one earned run.

Back walked two Trojan batters and allowed one hit and four runs, three earned. Porter had one strikeout and one walk with one hit allowed.

The Panthers committed nine errors in the game, contributing to the loss that moved the team to 3-2 on the season.

Raiders Hand KHS Third Loss

The Panthers' spirit was crushed again Saturday when they fell to Shenandoah 5-7 at home.

Olivo was the starting pitcher and took the loss. However, he did lead the Panthers at the plate, smashing a triple and a double. On the mound, Olivo struck out six Raider batters and walked four, giving up two hits and five runs in his four and half innings pitching.

Both teams were scoreless in the first two innings then the Raiders cranked up the offense, putting three runs on the board in the top of the third. The Panthers answered with two runs. Levi Back singled, followed by a base hit from freshman Ben Newby, advancing Back to third. Buchanan grounded to the third baseman and the Raiders caught Back running to get the out. But, another big hit from Wiles scored both Newby and Buchanan to pull within one of the Raiders' lead.

After holding the Raiders scoreless in the top of the fourth, Olivo kicked off the back part of that inning with a double to left field. A wild pitch allowed Olivo to score and tie the game at 3-3.

Jack Fort was walked and Buchanan was able to drive Fort in for the go-ahead run on a single to right field.

The Raiders rallied in the top of the fifth with three runs to retake the lead, 6-4, then held the Panthers scoreless in the bottom of the fifth.

After preventing the Raiders from scoring the top of the sixth, the Panthers scored again. Newby was walked and was able to advance to third when he tagged up on a long Buchanan fly out to right field. Porter lined the ball to left field next for a double that scored Newby. Burton and Wiles each reached base in the half inning but were left stranded.

Tri Softball Team Maintains Top Spot in Latest Poll

Submitted by Tri Athletic Dept.

The Lady Titan softball team raised its record to 5-1 with a big win, 11-3, over Eastern Hancock at home April 13.

Payton Moore was once again the winning pitcher, recording 11 strikeouts with no walks.

"Eastern Hancock is a quality team and it was nice to come out and control the game from the onset," said Titan Coach Duke Falck.

Tri scored in every inning with the exception of the fifth. The Lady Titans recorded 15 hits on the evening with many extra base hits.

In the first inning, Tri put two runs on the board to grab an early lead. With one out, Moore got a single up the middle to get things started. She advanced to second on Lauren Bouslog's single. Kaley Harrison hit a long drive off the top of the fence for a double, scoring Moore and Bouslog.

In the second inning Tri held the Royals scoreless once again and built on their lead. With runners on, Moore hit another single to score two and give Tri a 4-0 lead.

Once again in the third inning, the Royals went down in order. In the bottom half of the inning, the Lady Titans continued the offensive onslaught with three more runs. Kierstyn Conyers lead the inning off with a single and Harrison got her second of four doubles on the evening putting her and Conyers in scoring position. With a full count, Chloe Gentry hit the first official home run at Lady Titan field with a blast to left field off the scoreboard to score three runs.

In the fourth the Royals managed to get on the board with a lead off single by Webster. Truitt sacrifice bunted her to second base. Micha Black then doubled to left field to score the run. That ended the scoring threat for the Royals.

Tri answered with two runs in the bottom of the fourth. Bouslog led the inning off with a triple to right center field. She scored on a RBI ground out by Conyers. Harrison then smashed her third double of the game to get into scoring position. Gentry then hit another line shot off the fence for a double to score Harrison and record her fourth RBI of the evening.

After both teams went scoreless in the fifth, the Royals scored two runs in the sixth on a two-run home run by Black. Tri answered back in the bottom of the frame with two runs of their own.

Bouslog and Conyers had back to back singles. Harrison then ripped her fourth double and third RBI of the game with a smash off of the center field fence, scoring Bouslog. Gentry hit a sacrifice fly to center field to score Conyers for her fifth RBI of the night. That ended the scoring for the Titans.

Moore retired the Royals in order, ending the game.

Tri Girls Defeat Monroe Central
The Tri Lady softball team raised their record to 6-1 with a 6-1 victory over Monroe Central on a cool night at Lady Titan Field.

Moore got her sixth win of the season with a solid mound performance. She struck out 13 batters and allowed only two hits on the evening. Her battery mate, Abi Busby, had an outstanding performance behind the plate.

Tri got on the board early after holding the Golden Bears scoreless in the top of the first. Destiny Taylor led off with a walk to start things off. Moore beat out a throw to first and Taylor advanced to third when the first baseman mishandled the play. Moore stole second to put runners at second and third for Bouslog.

Bouslog hit a ground ball to first which scored Taylor and allowed Moore to advance to third. Conyers then hit a sacrifice fly to center field to score Moore and give Tri a 2-0 lead.

In the second inning, the Bears again went down quietly and Tri added to their lead, putting two more runs on the board.

Monroe Central scored their only run in the top of the third. But, the Lady Titans matched that in the bottom of the third to push out their lead to 5-1.

The Lady Titans added another run in the fourth and Moore continued to dominate from the mound to close out the game.

Tri had 11 hits in the game, including three doubles from Taylor, Gentry and Harrison.

Moore had three base hits and Cassidy Stewart tallied two singles. Harrison added a single to her double. Breeana Reece and Bouslog also had base hits.

Tri Clobbers Anderson Prep
The Tri Lady Titan softball team extended their record to 7-1 with a 18-1 win over Anderson Prep April 18. Tri was able to get all 19 players into the game but the standout player of the night was Kierstyn Conyers.

Conyers threw a great game on the mound allowing one unearned run, striking out 12 batters and allowing only one hit in five innings of work. She was also an offensive juggernaut going 3-for-3 with two doubles and a grand slam home run totaling five RBIs on the night.

Bouslog also nailed a shot down the first base line into the right field corner, allowing her to run the bases for an in-the-park home run and added three RBIs.

Taylor, Gentry and Madison Hill all hit doubles in the game.

Moore hit two singles for two RBIs. The team also got base hits from Reece, Kali Barber and Zoie Prince.

Tri senior Kierstyn Conyers (above) got her first shot this season pitching against Anderson Prep April 18. She ended up having a phenomenal game both on the mound (striking out 12 of the 19 batters she faced while giving up just one hit) and also at the plate where she smashed a shot deep over the center field fence with bases loaded. Not only was it the first grand slam Conyers has ever hit, it was the first grand slam hit at the Lady Titans' new field. She also hit two doubles for five RBIs in the game. (Stacy Cox photo)

Tri senior Lauren Bouslog (above) ripped this pitch straight down the first base line into the right field corner. Bouslog took off and flew around the bases to earn a stand up, in-the-park home run during the second inning of Tri's game Wednesday against Anderson Prep.

Knightsown's Elizabeth Moore, Tri's Bayleigh Appleby Play in All-Star Game

Knightsown's Elizabeth Moore and Tri's Bayleigh Appleby joined a few dozen other girls to participate in the Post Your Talent 2018 Indiana All-Star game last weekend at Mt. Vernon High School. Players were divided into divisions, 1-2A and 3-4A.

Moore and Appleby were members of the 1-2A West-Blue team and competed against the East-Red team which included Jocelyn Duncan from Eastern Hancock.

The games were created to give talented players from small schools, as well as the larger ones, a chance to compete in the post season. The Post Your T all-star games were first held in 2005 at the Anderson Wig Wam, launched by retired college and high school coach Mike Walker.

Players are chosen from those nominated by their coaches. Both Moore and Appleby competed on their team's varsity teams this past season.
